		Claims	NO

	Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims 1-79	YES

2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

Where no international search report was established in respect of certain claims or parts thereof, the question whether the claimed invention is novel, involve inventive step and industrially applicable have not been examined.

For the search that was conducted, the International Search Report identified the following citations:

- D1) STN File CA Abstract Accession No. 133:53160
- D2) STN File CA Abstract Accession No. 132:342787
- D3) Derwent Abstract Accession No. 2004-383257/36

D1 and D2 are the closest prior-art and disclosed compounds which are excluded by Claims 1-15, and 18. As such there is no overlap between the subject matter disclosed in the prior art documents and the subject matter of the present claims. Moreover, there is no teaching or suggestion in D1 and D2 that the compounds of the prior art would be useful for the inhibition of histone deacetylase and, as such, could be used for the treatment of cancer.

Accordingly, the claimed subject matter are novel and involve inventive step in the light of D1 and D2.

D3 is an intermediate document and is mentioned in Box VI.

The compounds of the present invention are inhibitors of histone deacetylase (HDACs) and it is understood that inhibition of HDACs will cause apoptosis of cancer cells. Thus the claimed subject matter has industrial applicability.

With regard to the document(s) listed in Box VI under "certain documents cited", these are documents published prior to the international filing date but later than the priority date claimed but which would otherwise be considered to be of particular relevance.

Under the PCT, novelty is considered only in respect of documents published before the priority date. The relevance of a document published after the priority date is dependent upon national law. Such documents are excluded from consideration in preliminary examination, under the PCT Guidelines but have been included here for information.

This application disclosed compounds which fall within the scope of Claim 1-16, and 18 in the instances that G^1 is C=O which would be equivalent to M; L is G^2NH so that it's C(=O)NH wherein the C(=O) would be equivalent to the Q in present claims and R^2 is equivalent to G in present claims. This citation may therefore influence novelty of Claim 1-16, and 18.
